IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.
BOSTON, Jan. 4.—Luigi Storti, the young Italian who was convicted of killing Michael Calucci with an ax on the night of November 7th, 1899, was sentenced by Judge Bond, in the superior criminal court, today, to die in the electrical chair some time during the week commencing Sunday, April 7th.

BIG FIGHT ANNOUNCED.

CARSON, N.Y., Jan. 4.—Dan Stuart, the prize fight promoter, authorized a statement that he will pull off a big fight in this city between May 1st and June 10th for the heavyweight championship ship. He says that the report that Jeffries and Fitzsimmons had been matched was no surprise to him.

THE TREATY PRESENTED.

LONDON, Jan. 4.—The United States ambassador, Mr. Joseph H. Choate, presented the Hay-Panama treaty amendments to the secretary of state for foreign affairs, the Marquis of Lansdowne, today.

EARL "BOBS" AT WORK.

LONDON, Jan. 5, 2:00 A. M.—Earl Roberts of Kandahar and Pretoria is already immersed in his new and arduous duties of commander-in-chief, at the war office. He will take no holiday.

WEATHER INDICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—Forecast for New England: Fair and colder Saturday, northwest winds, brisk on the coast; Sunday fair.

IN CONGRESS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—For five hours today, the senate discussed the army reorganization bill. The debate took a wide range at times, but was mostly confined to the question of the necessity of increasing the regular army according to the provisions of the public measure. The Philippine question was threshed over, at length, but few really new points were brought out.

In the house today, there was another spirited struggle over the Olmstead resolution to investigate the abridgment of the suffrage in several southern states. The resolution was finally referred to the census committee, where the opposition desired it to go originally. Then the apportionment bill was taken up and debated. The general impression is that the debate will be concluded early next week.

BOSTON BICYCLE RACE.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—Archib MacEachern, the clever rider from Toronto, led at the close of the fifth day in the race at Park Square garden, tonight. The finish was neither warm nor exciting. McLean and Walther both fell a quarter mile from the end. The only sensational incident of the day was when Babcock stole a lap from the leaders just before the close of the last hour. The leaders seemingly made no effort to prevent him from gaining on him. Stinson had a serious fall at half past ten o'clock this forenoon, and several stitches were taken in a hip wound. The men showed an improvement in pace today and there was a much larger crowd in attendance than yesterday. At the finish tonight, MacEachern, Keeser, Stinson, Downey, Fischer, McLean and Walther were tied, with 928 miles, five laps. Babcock had gone 928 miles, one lap—Miller 918, three.

NAVAL VESSELS' MOVEMENTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The work on the Alabama will probably be finished so that she can sail on January 9th, to join the North Atlantic squadron. The Bennington has left Manila for Hong Kong. The Iowa is to be dry docked at the Puget Sound station, about February 1st. The Potomac has reached Pensacola. The new battleship Illinois, now fast nearing completion at Newport News, will probably be ready for her builders' trial about the middle of February.

TO ASSIST LOOMIS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The navy department has received a cablegram from Commander Sargent of the Scorpion, announcing the arrival of the vessel at La Guayra, Venezuela, to assist Minister Loomis in his mission. At the state department it is said that Mr. Loomis' work will be limited to striving for a judicial and equitable determination of the issues that have arisen out of the asphalt franchisees.

ARRIVED FROM CUBA.

NEWPORT NEWS, Jan. 4.—The United States transport Sedgwick reached Hampton Roads early this morning, from Cienfuegos, Cuba, and anchored off Fortress Monroe. Coming from a Cuban port, she entered the Roads flying a yellow flag at her masthead and was detained at quarantine. She brought a number of army officers, soldiers and civilians, returning from Cuba.

Nothing Tastes Good

And eating is simply perfunctory—done because it must be.

This is the common complaint of the dyspeptic.

If eating sparingly would cure dyspepsia, few would suffer from it long.

The only way to cure dyspepsia, which is difficult digestion, is to give vigor and tone to the stomach and the whole digestive system.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cured the niece of Frank Fay, 106 N. St., South Boston, Mass., who writes that she had been a great sufferer from dyspepsia for six years; had been with out appetite and had been troubled with sour stomach and headache. She had tried many other medicines in vain. Two bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla made her well.

Boer Movements.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 4.—Two hundred Boers have recrossed the Orange river, going northward. Commandants Betrowski and Da Plooy were killed in the fighting at Utrecht on December 25 h.

He Wants More Troops

LONDON, Jan. 5, 3:00 A. M.—There is no further news from General Kitchener, except that (according to a Cape Town despatch) he asks for five thousand more troops, to guard the Rand mines. Enlistment in Cape Colony goes on actively and five hundred men will leave Cape Town for the north in a few days.

Did Immense Damage.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 4.—Commandant Viljoen has during the past week destroyed British property valued at fifty thousand pounds, in a campaign of mine destruction in the north.

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

MANILA, Jan. 4.—Generals Wheaton and Bates report many small captures, the destruction of insurgent camps and the seizure of supplies, animals and other necessities. In General Smith's district among the insurgents captured was Col. Techon, former governor of Tarion. General Grant in person is commanding a mounted expedition into southern Pampanga, the only locality in his jurisdiction (he reports) where the rebels are now in force. Insurgents entered Gaban, in San Isidro province, (which is in General Funston's district) during the night, and burned a score of houses. Their firing was ineffectual. General McArthur has commuted many sentences of death to imprisonment.

TO REBUILD THE BALTIMORE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—The naval board of construction today decided to almost completely rehabilitate the cruiser Baltimore, now lying at the New York yard. The operations will involve an expenditure of about $500,000 and will consume at least one and a half years.

PIONEER BREWER DEAD.

BOSTON, Jan. 4.—William Treadwell Van Ostrand, one of the pioneer brewers of Boston, died at his home in Charlestown this afternoon after an illness of some months from which he never rallied, owing largely to his advanced age. He was born in Hampstead, N. H., in 1821.

THIS IS IT.

The reports of George H. Broadhurst's farce, "The House That Jack Built," which had its first production on any stage at Youngstown, Ohio, Sept. 12th, are flattering in the extreme, and indicate that this gifted American author has evolved another successful farce, and one which is as clean in its morals as its predecessors. What happened to Jones, Why Smith Left Home, and the Wrong Mr. Wright.

The House That Jack Built is written on entirely different lines than the three farces. One novel scene occurs in the second act, where a room is papered in full view of the audience.

The leading roles are in the hands of the following well known artists: Thomas A. Wise, Mrs. Annie Yeamans, Alfred Klein, Charles Cherry, Fred W. Peters, Herbert Ayling, Harrison Armstrong, Roy Fairchild, Alexis Law Gisko, Albert Amberg, J. N. Henton, Miss Brandon Douglass, Anita Bridger, Grace Dudley and Jennie Yeamans.

Manager Hartford has booked The House That Jack Built for Thursday, Jan. 10.

NEW ORGAN OPENED.

The recital at the Second Methodist church in Kittery, on Friday evening, by Prof. Clark of Boston, was enjoyed by quite a number from this city. The new sixteen hundred dollar instrument was heard for the first time by the public and its possibilities were exhibited thoroughly. The selections were as follows:

Triumphal March, Largo, Andantino, Improvisato, Evening Rest, Easter March, Melody in F, Canzonetta, War March.

KNIGHT RECEIVES FRIENDS.

Prisoner E. J. Knight, who is held at Alfred jail awaiting trial for the murder of Fannie Sprague, has frequent calls from friends. On Thursday a gentleman from Boston called at the jail and was allowed to talk with the suspect in the presence of the keeper.

Knight does not take his confinement so hard as many thought he would. He does not mingle with the other prisoners, when allowed the freedom of the corridor, but walks up and down all the while he is out of the cell to stretch his legs and get exercise. He eats well and is looking for his trial, as he says, to be acquitted.

A keeper watches the suspect both day and night, as the jailer does not intend to allow any chance to create trouble. Mr. Knight is a great reader and he spends a good deal of the time in the cell reading. He has the greatest of confidence in his lawyer, Geo. C. Yeaton of Berwick and Hon. F. M. Higgins of Limerick, and he told a prisoner at the jail, who sympathized with him, that his lawyers would make it necessary for somebody else to receive sympathy.

There are nearly fifty witnesses in the Sprague case and the grand jury was busy with them all day Thursday and Friday. One of the most interesting of the witnesses is Freddie Sprague, son of the murdered woman, who was sent away by the woman just before she was killed. He is an interesting little fellow and his testimony has close bearing on the case.

A GOLDEN OPPORTUNITY.

California Petroleum Oil Fast Becoming King Of The Mining Industries.

The marvelous development of the Petroleum Oil fields in California the past year offers splendid inducements to investors of large or small capital. Vast fortunes have been made on stocks purchased a year ago for less than one dollar per share which are now quoted at $500 to $1000 per share. The same opportunities exist today.

Mr. Chas. Berry, who is a resident of California and who is visiting in Portsmouth, is agent for two of the most promising oil companies who have just recently commenced operations in Kern county, where the richest strikes in the state have been made. For convenience of those desiring full and reliable information, Mr. Berry can be found at No. 18 Congress street (in J. S. Tilton's harness store) until January 10th, who is prepared to furnish stock at thirty cents per share. Only a limited number of shares for sale at the above figure. This is one of the opportunities of a life time and will not be missed by those looking for a good and safe investment. Call and investigate.

DIRECT TO PORTSMOUTH.

Wallace D. Lovell intends to have direct electric railway communication between Exeter and Portsmouth, and today (Saturday) a special meeting of the stockholders of the Exeter, Hampton and Amesbury street railway will be held in Exeter, to authorize the construction of an extension of the present line from the junction of the Hampton and North Hampton roads, on Dow's hill, through North Hampton Centre and Greenland, to join the new line in Portsmouth territory. The extension would go down through most interesting territory and would develop a section of the county well off the regular line of communication.

OUT TODAY.

The January Guidon, of which the Rev. Father Delaney, formerly of this city, is editor, is out today, and most conspicuous for Portsmouth readers is a full-page portrait of the Rev. Father E. M. O'Callaghan, pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception of this city, and a sketch of his life and work here. The January Guidon ought to be secured by every Portsmouth reader this month, if it never has been before. Order it early of your newsdealer.

THE JANUARY TERM.

The January term of the supreme court for Rockingham county will be held in Exeter, commencing on Tuesday, January 15th. Chief Justice Blodgett will preside. The docket contains 215 civil actions, eighty-two equity cases, forty-eight state actions and appeals and one case in session. The divorce cases to come up number twenty-eight.

The following aids were named: Sergeants Fred Harrington and Clarence Hoyt; Corporals George Lane, Herbert Fernald, Augustus Warren and Herman Crompton; Privates Fred Harriman, Elmer Frisbee, Edwin Blaisdell and Curtis Call.

A GRAND SPECTACLE.

Cape Cod Is Desolate, But Has a Wild and Desirable Beauty.

This story of a woman the people must be told with the same which ended in for the travelers. They had been in over the water of the Cape, where sometimes one looks clear across the Cape and marvels at the wild wilderness of these slopes, covered with stunted and half dead vegetation, with here and there a sand dune, upon which perhaps a house and out would slowly and fitly rise.

At South Weymouth, crossing the railroad, they took an uncertain path through thick pine woods that seemed to lead down a hollow toward the seashore.

Presently the woods dwindled to bushes, and the bushes sank into thick, purple masses of heather. Then they gave out and only the thin, stony staff that will grow in pure sand survived, and at last even that failed, and to north, to south, to east—for though the travelers knew the sea was near, they saw it not on account of the upward slope before them toward the dunes; there was nothing but coarse, hard sand, apparently mile upon mile of it.

Over the undulating and waste ran a line of poles, carrying one wire, hanging in long loops from pole to pole, and emphasizing the desolation. Desolate it was, and yet beautiful with a beauty utterly wild and desirable. On the travelers struck toward the dunes, and now they before them, and in a few moments what a spectacle burst suddenly on their view!

The boundless ocean, suddenly springing to their feet, more intensely, deeper purple blue than either of them had ever seen it, it seemed to them ultramarine and more under a flawless sky. On the travelers near the shore, so near that the sailors could be seen along the mile, Yankee sailors sped by, and ocean tugs labered along with rows of laden barges.

Close in under the gravelly cliffs by the long, curving, narrow, thrifty beach of the ocean side of Cape Cod, which seemed to drink up the waves that were dashing over it, rearing up the most not more than half of them to the sea. Driftwood lay scattered here and there. In the far distance on the beach were black specks, that were doubtless human beings, gathering to the beach. The spectacle was big, emotional.

It came to the travelers that the Pacific must have come upon Nanea de Balboa—silent—on that never to be forgot peak in Darien. Now all desire to be getting over the road was dead for a time, and after long contemplation of the scene this Cape Cod journey was ended by a regular final tramp to the railroad station and the Boston bound train.—Boston Transcript.

SAVED BY HIS HORSE.

A Graphic Story of a Noble Animal's Devotion to His Master.

A graphic story is told by Surgeon Captain Grey, one of the officers who served in the Crimea, in the attack on Balaklava, of the horses that began to drop and soon lay on the ground, and it looked as if the men would all be killed. Evidently Captain Turner thought so, for he virtually gave the order, "Save your men," telling every man to fight the best he could for his own hand. But though the horses continued to fall the men fought on, and to use his own words, "led toward the warfare" under a raking fire at a gallop, and was closely followed by the troops.

"Very soon, however, I fell from the saddle, struck with a bullet from an enemy gun about 300 yards off. The bullet struck me on the top of the thigh, smuggling the socket of the thigh bone, wounding a vein and otherwise wounding me. My horse was carried on at full speed with the rear guard, which rushed at desperate speed to clear the picketed entrance of the drift, where the natives were rallying in the hope of killing us. As I lay on the ground, feeling myself dying, I looked up and saw two natives riding at me at a gallop of about 40 feet. At the same moment

I saw my horse coming back from the drift.

It suddenly stopped and came and stood over my prostrate body, covering me from the fire and at the same time making a peculiar noise through its teeth. I thought it had been wounded and that with the pain, noise, and confusion it had gone mad. This notion, however, was soon dispelled, for it continued to stand over me in a kneeling posture, and I could see that the faithful animal had come back to protect me.

"I may remark here that this horse, which I myself saved, I rode for some time after the battle, and he was a fine specimen of the breed. He was a bay horse, about 15 hands high, and he was very gentle and docile. He was a fine existed unknown in a negro minstrel troupe until there had been three hundred cases as a direct result, throughout one county in the state. It certainly has a rag time way of spreading there just at present.President McKinley has informed a United States senator that he has made no promises regarding the appointment of the successor to Chief Constructor Philip Hichborn, U. S. N. He also states that when Naval Constructor Bowles was presented nothing was said about there being any other candidates.

President McKinley has never yet committed a wrong against a deserving soldier and the veterans believe that he will do justice to Naval Constructor John F. Hancherson.It is not surprising to learn that the younger element of the legislature is heartily in favor of the re-election of Senator Chandler. Such friendliness springs undoubtedly from the fact that Senator Chandler has been a good friend to the young men. Whenever they have asked anything from him he has responded most heartily and courteously.
Many a young man in this section of the country has reason to be grateful to Senator Chandler for assistance that has been cheerfully given. These favors to young men may not be generally known, but it is a fact that Senator Chandler is the young man's friend and it is pleasing to learn that the young men in the legislature are the friends of the senator.The preservation of the forests of New Hampshire has attracted attention by the words of Governor Jordan. The Boston Herald suggests a promising plan for the legislature to exempt from taxation, at least for a number of years, those forest tracts the owners of which would agree to cut their lumber in according to the rules laid down by scientific forestry commission, which the state should appoint to prepare regulations of this kind. There certainlymust be something more vital to those interested, than mere sentiment, and the inducement that the Boston Herald mentions is a most reasonable one. The Herald truthfully adds that the great number of people from all over the country who each year spend weeks or months of their time in the White mountain region are drawn thither by attractions which are largely increased, if they are not entirely maintained, by the existence of forest covered hills and mountains. There is every reason to believe that our interests would be more than ultimately benefited by the exception on these tracts.STATE OF OHIO, CITY OF TOLEDO, BRIGHT LITTLE GIRLS.

Two little girls of the city showed a business ability, Friday afternoon, much beyond what is usually expected of their sex. They called at a news store and each purchased a few cents worth of old papers, getting about all they wanted to carry. They had done the same thing before, and the proprietor was a little curious to know what they were doing with so many papers.
They were reticent, however, and would not tell. It was found later that they were selling the papers at other stores for wrapping paper and were making a fair profit on their deals.Good News

ENGAGEMENT CLOSES TONIGHT.

The Cook Church company will wind up its present engagement in Portsmouth this (Saturday) evening at Music hall, with the presentation of the strongest play in its repertoire, The Ruling Passion. This piece once had a notable run in London and Miss Church starred in it for several seasons, filling dates in about all the principal cities of the United States. It affords her unusual scope for the exploitation of all the talents for which she is justly famed. Mr. Cook also fills a role that gives him plenty of opportunities for effect.In the fourth act, the Crystal Palace, London, is seen, with a balloon ascension by Miss Church in full view of the audience. A real balloon of average size is employed in this wonderfully realistic scene. The basket has been on display outside the theatre all the week. There are five acts in The Ruling Passion, and every episode is calculated to hold the keen attention of those in front. The indications are that the large crowd of the entire week will be at Music hall tonight.This (Saturday) afternoon the Police Patrol will be the play, a great bill for the women and children. It is enthusiastically received everywhere.On Friday afternoon the company produced An Innocent Sinner, for the second time during the week, to a large matinee attendance. In the evening The Midnight Alarm (Scott Marble's thrilling melodrama) delighted a good-sized audience. Both Miss Church and Mr. Cook carried strong parts, the former portraying Sparkie (a wife) and the latter Harry Westmore, (captain of No. 6).
The supporting people were highly competent, as usual at the Cook-Church performances.

OGUNQUIT.

OGUNQUIT, ME., Jan. 4.
Ice business has begun in earnest here. Moody's pond is quite a lively place, as there are quite a number of men and teams at work cutting some of the best ice that was ever harvested here. It is thirteen inches thick; clear blue ice.Fishing business is rather quiet just now. A few boats are still going out but no large fares are being caught.
Quite a number of men are now clam-oring.It is reported that J. H. Littlefield has sold out his interest in the store of A.
H. Littlefield & Co. to A. H. and that the latter will continue the business.There is strong talk now that the village will be supplied with water from Chase's pond next season for next summer's business. The deal depends on what action the town takes in relation to the matter, as one of the considerations is that the town pay for some hydants. If this thing goes through, it will be a big boom to Ogunquit, as it means a great deal for the future of the place. Our most serious drawback now is a lack of good fresh water.Work on the new hotel is progressing well. A few new men have just been put on.
It is said here that G. W. Moody has moved his family back to town. Only a few weeks ago he sold his farm in this place and moved to Boston.It is the talk here that if the town will use us fairly there will be no effort made for a division. Some of the leading men are saying that they think the town has a better feeling toward us than they have had for years, and they profess to think they will meet the demands of the York Water company in relation to hydrants. We hope for a good water above all things else for the improvement of the place, and to hold the patronage we now have, and we must have it from some source, some way, or we shall certainly go backward.

HICHBORN'S SUCCESSOR.

Constructor Bowles Not Sure of the Place, it is Said.Some recent developments cast a little doubt upon the chances of Constructor Bowles succeeding Admiral Hichborn as chief constructor of the navy upon the latter's retirement on March 5, says a special to the Boston Herald. Constructor Hancherson, who is the second ranking officer of the corps, has lately come very strongly to the front as a candidate, and a third rival is Constructor Woodward, now assistant to Admiral Hichborn at the department.The announcement that Constructor Bowles had been selected seems to have been based on the fact that he was presented to the president by Secretary Long as his candidate, and it was believed by both the secretary and Mr.
Bowles that the latter would be appointed. Later, however, the friends of Mr. Hancherson, who still has threeThe point of a woman's dates secured the third degree; at the

NOT DUE TO CLIMATE.

Catarrh Is Found Everywhere.

Catarrh is at home anywhere and everywhere. While more common in cold, changeable climates, it is by no means confined to them, but it is prevalent in every state and territory in the union.The common definition of catarrh is a chronic cold in the head, which if long neglected often destroys the sense of smell and hearing; but there are many other forms of the disease, even more obstinate and dangerous.Catarrh of the throat and bronchial tubes as well as catarrh of the stomach and liver are almost as common as nasal catarrh and generally more difficult to cure.Catarrh is undoubtedly a blood disease and can only be successfully eradicated by an internal treatment; sprays, washes and powders are useless as far as reaching the real seat of the disease is concerned.Dr. McVerney advises catarrh sufferers to use a new preparation, sold by druggists, called Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, because actual analysis has shown these tablets to contain certain antiseptic qualities of the highest value and being an internal remedy, pleasant to the taste, convenient and harmless, can be used as freely as required, as well for children as adults.An attorney and public speaker, who had been a catarrh sufferer for years says:"Every fall I would catch a cold which would settle in my head and throat and hang on all winter long and every winter it seemed to get a little worse. I was continually clearing my throat and my voice became affected to such an extent as to interfere with my public speaking.I tried troches and cheap cough cures and sometimes got relief, but only for a short time, until this winter when I learned of the new catarrh cure, Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, through a newspaper advertisement. Two fifty cent boxes which I bought at my druggist's, cleared my head and throat in ten days and to guard against a return of my old trouble I keep a box of the tablets on hand and whenever I catch a little cold I take a tablet or two and ward off any serious developments."Stuart's Catarrh Tablets deserves to be the list as a household remedy, to check and break up coughs and colds, because unlike many other catarrh and cough cures these tablets contain no opiate, cocaine or any injurious drug.

JOHN H. KNOX.

His Death a Severe Shock to the Entire Community This Forenoon.The entire community was greatly shocked and grieved this noon to learn of the death of John H. Knox, which occurred at his home No. 11 Union street shortly before the noon hour after an illness of but a few days. Death was directly caused by an attack of pneumonia. It was generally known that he was critically sick, but it was hoped that his strength would be sufficient to carry him over the most dangerous period of that terrible disease, with which he once before battled successfully.Mr. Knox was a native of this city and his age was fifty six years. His education was secured in the public schools and the High school and shortly after his graduation from the latter, he enlisted in the United States navy and served during the civil war on theU. S. S. Ostipee, as an ordinary seaman.His faithful service and good character were recognized on his return from the south on the Ostipee and he was appointed a clerk in the commandant's office at this yard and for over thirty years he has been in this service, filling his position in an honorable and most creditable manner and receiving the well earned gratitude of those officers, who have in years past succeeded each other at this naval station.He numbered among his friends many persons of prominence in the United States navy and was greatly respected by the employees and officials of the yard for his always courteous manner and his obliging disposition.His wife, who survives him, was Miss Abbie Gornham of Kittery, and two children are left, Miss Susie E., who is studying art in Philadelphia, and Ralph W., a student at the Portsmouth High school.Mr. Knox was a member of Christ Episcopal church and his life was consistent with his convictions. He was a member of Storer Post, No. 1, G. A. R., and an Odd Fellow.His life was busy with the many responsible duties of his position. He was a good friend, a gentleman and he will be greatly missed.Rear Admiral Bartlett J. Cromwell, U. S. N., commandant of the Portsmouth naval station, was informed of Mr. Knox's death by telephone soon after the sad occurrence and was deeply pained at the news. Admiral Cromwell gave expression to his appreciation of Mr. Knox's services during the brief time that the two have been associated and expressed his sympathies for the family of the deceased."THE WORLD'S WORK" FOR JANUARY.The review of the month in the January World's Work sweeps over the whole field of activity in its straightforward and cheerful treatment of the most important contemporaneous events; political, sociological, educational, international and literary—from New England to Alabama and California in our own land and from Egypt to the Arctic.The full page portraits are: John Fiske, the historian; President Hadley, of Yale; Booker T. Washington; General Roberts; Capt. Croghan, the celebrated African traveler; and several full-page illustrations besides portraits—in all, 100 essential pictures.Among the articles are: "Great Tasks of the New Century," which points out a dozen or more revolutionary undertakings which the great governments and the great corporations of the world have in hand, the completion of which will change the routes of travel and the direction of civilization.The World's Work takes the current of contemporaneous events and activities at its flood, and it is written in plain, direct English, without superfluous words. It drives straight towards the main point.DUBLIN, PAGE & Co.,

Deafness and Senselessness.

A medical scientist having observed that deaf mutes never suffer from senselessness—a fact which is perfectly well understood by those who have had charge of these unfortunate—the inquiry was naturally suggested to his mind, why this immunity from this distressing malady? After varied and exhaustive experiments it was decided that the absence of sensibility in the auditory nerve was the occasion of the entire freedom of deaf mutes from senselessness.
He says, "In deaf mutes there is absolute deafness, or very great reduction in hearing, dependent upon the destruction or serious impairment of the function of the peripheral distribution or sound perceptive elements of the auditory nerve, in which process the semicircular canals are included. Both physiological experiment and pathological observation point to that part of the inner ear known as the semicircular canals as exercising a controlling influence over the maintenance of the erect posture and the sense of equilibrium. As these functions are frequently disturbed on shipboard by the rapidly changing motion of the ship, it seems probable that this has much to do with senselessness, if it is not the sole cause of it. A remedy which has been effective in a number of cases is an anesthetic applied to the inner ear by dropping. A preparation of cocaine is suggested.

Idle Wasting.

A late president of one of our colleges once said "The habit of standing idle, waiting for dead men's shoes, kills the life in many a rich man's son. It is a paralysis of body and mind. I can pick out nearly every boy in this college whose idea of life is to spend the money which somebody else has earned. His looks, his acts, his talk, are infected with a dry rot. This was a harsh expression. But it represents new hard lives, that lack the vitality and healthful moral vigor that make men worthy of the highest respect and useful members of society.—Youth's Companion.

sponsible for the symbolism.A wasp will eat anything from carrion
